Existing guidance from the national, state, and local public health authorities recommend social distancing of at least six feet between persons and limits gatherings to no more than 10 persons, among other preventative practices.

You have the right to be physically present in court at all stages of the proceedings including, but not limited to, presentation of testimony and evidence and arguments on questions of law at trial and sentencing; and the right to have the witnesses testify under oath in court and to confront and cross-examine witnesses in court. In light of the current national emergency, however, the Court is urging all traffic litigants to consent to having their court appearance conducted by two-way electronic Audio/Video communication.
