When the services of an official court reporter are not available for a hearing or trial in a civil case, a party may arrange for the presence of a certified shorthand reporter to serve as an official pro tempore reporter. It will be that party's responsibility to pay the reporter's fee for attendance at the proceedings, but the expense may be recoverable as part of the costs, as provided by law. [Rule 2.956(c), Cal. Rules of Court]

The reporting notes of an official pro tempore reporter are the official records of the Court, and shall be maintained or delivered to the Clerk of the Court in paper and/or electronic form as directed by the Court, pursuant to Government Code section 69955.
