FAMILY COURT SERVICES
REQUESTING A COPY OF YOUR CHILD CUSTODY RECOMMENDING COUNSELING
(CCRC) REPORT

Following your CCRC appointment(s), the CCR Counselor will write a report and send it to the court. The CCRC report describes either the parenting plan agreed upon by you and the other parent -- or the parenting plan that the CCR Counselor recommends for your child(ren) in the event that you and the other parent could not agree upon a plan. At the end of your CCRC session, the CCR Counselor will tell you when your CCRC report will be completed and how to get a copy of it.

A copy of the CCRC report will always be available for review by you, the other party, and/or your attorney(s) when you arrive in the courtroom on the date of your court hearing.

Please Note: Neither party nor your attorney may have any discussion with the CCR Counselor about the CCRC report prior to the court hearing.
