Because advocates serve as volunteers, matters on which they appear will be granted priority on the court's calendar whenever possible.

(c) Continuation of advocate's appointment

In the event the court dismisses a dependency case and issues family court orders under Welfare and Institutions Code section 362.4, the advocate's appointment may be continued in the family court proceeding, and the juvenile court order shall set forth the nature, extent, and duration of the advocate's duties in the family court proceeding.

(b) Information-sharing protocol

The following protocol applies to information sharing between and among the court, FCB, PCI, JPD, DCFS, CASA, and APS staff. Each agency staff person may orally disclose to each of the other respective agency staff, the following information:

- (1) Whether a child or his or her parents, guardians, or caretakers are or have been the subject of a child abuse, neglect, probate, criminal, or delinquency investigation, the findings and status of that investigation, the recommendations made or anticipated to be made by the respective agency, the progress while under court supervision including compliance with court orders, and a copy of any court order in existence as well as probation conditions with respect to the child, parents, guardians, or caretakers.
- (2) Any statement made by the child or the child's parents, guardians, or caretakers which might bear upon on the issue of the best interest of that child, or a sibling or half-sibling living with or visiting with that child, who is involved in a pending family or probate court matter. (c) Modification of family court orders

When a new dependency petition has been filed involving an existing family court case, the parties by stipulation may allow the juvenile court to modify the existing family court orders, where modification of the existing custody and visitation orders may remove the risk that led to the filing of the juvenile dependency petition. The juvenile court may then, where appropriate, order dismissal of the dependency petition. The process is as follows:

- (1) The parties and their counsel may agree on the record that the juvenile court bench officer may hear the matter as a family court judge. If an agreement is reached after or outside of a hearing, the parties and their counsel must execute their stipulation on the appropriate Judicial Council form and the juvenile court judge will attach a signed Family Court Stipulation and Order Dismissing Juvenile Court Case (Local Form ALA JV-004).

(a) Motions to object to a petition

A motion to challenge the legal sufficiency of the petition may be made orally or in writing at the initial detention hearing or at the jurisdictional hearing. A party may object on the ground that the petition alleges facts that, even if determined to be true, either are not sufficient to state a cause of action, or are not stated with sufficient clarity and precision to enable the party to determine what must be defended. The court may entertain the objection by oral argument when made, or may set it for further hearing. No objection in the nature of a special demurrer to particular allegations shall lie to challenge only certain paragraphs under a particular subdivision of Welfare and Institutions Code section 300; a party must challenge all allegations, not selected ones.

- (4) Upon issuance of a court order, the CALICO Center will provide a copy of the tape to the court for viewing by the parties. At the conclusion of the viewing, the court will notify the CALICO Center and an employee of the center will retrieve the tape, unless the parties plan to introduce the tape into evidence at a hearing.
- (5) If a CALICO tape is introduced into evidence, it shall remain in the custody of the court. The court shall not permit any copying of the tape.
- (6) Upon final disposition of the case, all but one copy of the CALICO tape will be destroyed. Rule 5.532. De facto parents

The following provisions govern de facto parent applications, standing of de facto parents, and duration of status as a de facto parent.

(a) Application for de facto parent status

De facto parent status will be granted by the court only upon written application on the mandatory Judicial Council form. Notice of such application will be given to the parties and their counsel of record by the clerk of the court. Any party who objects to the application shall file an opposition within ten court days from the date of mailing of notice. If an opposition is filed, the court will set the matter for hearing, and notice of the hearing will be given to all parties and their attorneys by the courtroom clerk. If no opposition is received, the court may grant, deny, or set the matter for hearing. At the hearing on such application, the court shall consider the contents of the dependency file, any report filed by the social worker or the CASA advocate for the child, and any other relevant and admissible evidence presented by the parties. The court may consider the declarations filed in support of or in opposition to such application if the declarants are made available for cross-examination. Before granting de facto parent status, the court shall find, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the moving party meets the criteria set forth in this rule. An application for de facto parent status shall not, in itself, constitute good cause for continuing any other hearing in the dependency action.

(b) Standing of a de facto parent

If the court grants the application for de facto parent status, the de facto parent shall have standing as a party to the proceedings to the degree that the proceedings directly affect the de facto parent's legally recognizable interests in the child.

(c) Representation of de facto parent

A de facto parent may be represented by counsel at his or her own expense. A de facto parent shall not be entitled to appointed counsel unless the court finds that the de facto parent is financially eligible for appointed counsel and appointment of counsel would substantially benefit the resolution of issues before the court. No right to appointment of counsel shall exist for the purpose of making the application for de facto parent status.

(d) Discovery orders

Upon granting de facto parent status, the court may make such discovery orders as are necessary and appropriate.

(e) Duration of status as de facto parent

De facto parent status shall continue only so long as the psychological bond continues to exist between the de facto parent and the child. De facto parent status automatically terminates upon the termination of dependency jurisdiction or upon order of the court.

(d) Continuing education requirement

(1) Time for submitting report regarding continuing education

Each court-appointed attorney, on or before January 31st of the same year in which the attorney must certify his or her continuing education credits to the State Bar of California, must submit to the court a statement certifying that the attorney has completed 18 hours of continuing dependency education or training in the prior three years.

If the matter is not resolved informally, the judge will request the attorney to move to withdraw or to submit a written response to the client's complaint within five days and thereafter determine whether the attorney acted contrary to the local rules or practice guidelines or whether the attorney acted incompetently. If the judge determines the attorney acted improperly or incompetently, the judge may reprove the attorney privately or on the record in chambers or otherwise outside the presence of others and may take any other action that the judge deems appropriate.
